

Solving the American Health Care Crisis

Simple Common Sense

America ranks 1 in obesity, 27 in life expectancy, 37 in infant mortality, and 54 in access to health care; despite spending twice what the next rich country spends per person.

by Umang Malhotra

Join the author as he discusses his book that, based on a study the health-care systems in other "rich" countries, including Japan, England and Australia, argues that the pitfalls of American health care come from the system's reliance on capitalist practices by both insurance and pharmaceutical companies.

FREE (First come, first served seating)
6:30 pm, Wednesday, May 12
San Diego Public Library
Auditorium--3rd floor
820 E Street--San Diego

THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO

Copies of the book will be available for purchase at the event!

This information will be made available in alternative formats upon request.